New York State AFL Begins New Member And Politics Drives

Albany, N. Y.—The New York State Federation of Labor has thrown all of its power into the social legislation and political drives being conducted by organized labor in that state.

The conference approved by the state convention last January, were being followed by a strategy conference at Albany called by President Thomas A. Murray and Secretary-Treasurer H. C. Henshaw.

Their objectives are to gain as many new members as possible through the AFL's legislative drive and to elect representatives pledged to support the legislative drive.

The conference agreed on three points: (1) To continue the drive for new members; (2) To continue the drive for new members; (3) To continue the drive for new members.

At the closing session in New York City, the conference approved a resolution to continue the drive for new members. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 100 to 10.
